(SHE IS ON STOOL)

HOST: It may come as a surprise to some of you that the soil you find in your garden can be used to improve the skin. In front of me you will see an array of soil samples.

CU LINE OF TUBES

Take a look at the first tube. It contains Silty Clay. There's a lot of this earth around Edmonton.

MS SHOT AS SHE PICKS
UP TUBE

Some of the tallest buildings in this city are built on ground where silty clay has been encountered.

SHE PUTS TUBE BACK ON TABLE

CU HOST

Much of the high cost of construction in downtown Edmonton has been due to the problem of erecting twenty-odd-stories on a foundation which is soft and yielding.

SHE PICKS UP SECOND TUBE

Then there's another common soil in Edmonton,
and one that you will find in your garden, no matter in which part of the city you live.

CU SILT LOAM (IN HER HAND)

Silt Loam. Dark and heavy, and rich in minerals and chemicals to enable plants to grow quickly. It is a healthy, life-giving soil.

MCU HOST AS SHE PUTS TUBE
DOWN ON TABLE

In fact, Silt Loam is the type of soil that I am going to use today. The others,

Silty Clay, Sandy Loam, and Dark Grade
Wooded, we will deal with on a later program.

HOST: Now, to our soils, Silt Loam, in particular.

CU SILT LOAM TUBE

This small tube of soil, taken from a flower garden, contains enough materials to completely revolutionize your complexion. Three to four applications of this soil, and your face will take on a new look.

MS HOST AT TABLE.

It's simple, it's quick. You take the contents of the tube and just pour it into a mixing bowl or small dish.

SHE OPENS TUBE AND EMPTIES INTO BOWL.

SHE PICKS UP JUG OF WATER

Add water, and stir vigorously.

VIDEOAUDIO

CU BOWL. SHE STIRS.
SHOW MIXTURE.

Actually only two to three minutes of stirring is required, just enough to make a fairly supple paste.

SHE TILTS BOWL TO CAMERA.

It looks like mud. That's exactly what it is. But mud, just mud, is not enough.

CU HOST

You could get mud from the river bank, or wait for a rainy day. But the river mud might contain contaminated water, or the mud in your yard might not have the right amount of loamy soil.

CU BOWL

So, you have to be a little more careful, and use plain loam, and good, clean tap water.

WS HOST AND TABLE.

SHE GETS UP AND WALKS CAMERA RIGHT (TAKES BOWL WITH HER)

DOLLY INTO LOOSE TWO-SHOT

Now, to apply the mixture. Waiting for me, and waiting for her new complexion, is Betty Blotch.

Betty is sixteen, healthy, and full of get up and go. But Betty has a problem. Her nose is always greasy, and mostly covered with black-heads.

CU BETTY

A nose is meant for more than blowing. It can be a beautiful part of a beautiful face. Betty has always wanted a beautiful nose.

STIRS CONTENTS OF BOWL

I am going to apply my mud to Betty's nose,
and on our next program you will see what happens when Silt Loam is used for more than growing flowers.

CU HOST

As I said, earlier, there is something in your garden, in the good earth, meant especially for you. It will help to make you lovelier, feel better, see life in a new light.

Till next time, dig a little, look lovelier.
